BUILD A SNACK MIX

Activity adapted by: Brianna Stapleton Welch

Snack mix ideas from a variety of the food groups:

Fruits: Apple chips, banana chips, raisins, dried cranberries, cherries, apricots, pineapple

Vegetables: Freeze dried mixed veggies, crunchy zucchini sticks, snap pea crisps, root vegetable chips

Grains: Whole grain square cereal, O cereal, pretzels

Protein: Sunflower seeds, pumpkin seeds, peanuts, almonds, walnuts, soy nuts

Paper Bag Pet Parade

Activity Adapted by: Brianna Stapleton Welch

Having a pet can be very rewarding. It can also be a lot of work. Even if your family is not ready for a pet at home, this activity will get you thinking about the type of animal friend that is best for you.

Supplies Needed:

Pictures of common pets, dogs, cats, fish, lizards, guinea pigs, etc.

Brown paper lunch bags

Scraps of colorful paper

Crayons or colored pencils

Yarn

Googly eyes

Scissors

Glue stick

Instructions:

You can use their imagination to design their own pet with a paper bag. Hand out the paper bags, set out craft materials and give youth time to build their animal. Challenge them to include at least two of the animal parts that they observed when looking at the animal pictures. They should also name their animal.

Questions You Can Ask Youth:

- 1.) Who has a pet?
- 2.) What kind of pet do you have?
- 3.) What do your pets do?
- 4.) What are some differences among the types of animals that can be pets?
- 5.) Do they have fur? Are there scales on the animal? What kinds of ears do they have?
- 6.) How do you take care of a dog? How is that different from taking care of a bird?

Share / Reflect:

It's time for a paper bag pet parade! Explain that each child will be marching their pet in the parade and will get to share something unique about their paper bag pet.

Ages and Stages of Visual and Fine Motor Development in Youth

Ages and stages are important in child development. Research on child and brain development about the early years can tell us quite a bit. General areas of development include: cognitive, communication/speech/language, gross motor, visual and fine motor, and social-emotional skills. If parents understand the ages and stages of development, they can watch their child at a particular age, gauge what they expect at this age, and nurture their child's healthy development. Below we will be focusing on visual and fine motor skill development.

4 Years Old

- Builds a three block bridge from a model
- Completes a six to eight piece puzzle
- Copies a square
- Buttons or unbuttons clothing
- Cuts on line with scissors
- Zips and unzips / snaps and unsnaps
- Washes body thoroughly

5 Years Old

- Copies triangle, square, diamond shape
- Prints first name and simple words
- Models objects with clay
- Colors within lines
- Copies most letters
- Laces shoes

Trace the letter A

6 Years Old

- Puts shoes on the correct feet
- Ties bows
- Establishes hand preference
- Prepares toothbrush and thoroughly brushes teeth
- Blows and wipes nose

7-8 Years Old

- Able to handle simple tools
- Able to fasten (buttons, snaps, and zippers) independently

4-H Conference Judging

What is 4-H conference judging?

A 4-H member sits down with the judge at the fair and talks with them about their 4-H exhibit. Judges will award ribbons and placings according to the exhibitor's knowledge about the exhibit and the quality of the exhibit.

How do you prepare for conference judging?

Before the county fair, sit down and answer the following questions about your exhibit (s). It's okay to have a parent or brother / sister help you and its good practice! Be sure to practice talking loudly and clearly so you can be understood.

What will the judge ask?

What is your name? How many years have you been in 4-H? What club do you belong to?

Next the judge will ask you a series of questions about your exhibit.

Cloverbud 4-H Members

4-Her's who are enrolled in the Cloverbud Project will go through the same experience as older 4-H members, so they should also prepare to talk to a judge about their exhibit. One difference between the two is that Cloverbud members will not be asked nearly as many questions nor will they be expected to know as much as an older 4-H member. Think of Cloverbud judging as simply having a conversation with an adult;
